CIRCLEVILLE TEACHERS' SALARIES INCREASED

BOARD TO ABIDE BY FOUNDATION PLAN, MAY SAYS

Minimum Wage Becomes $800, $100 Higher Than Previous Years

49 TO BE INCLUDED

Payroll, Due Wednesday, to Be Delayed Until Tax is Distributed

Salaries of teachers in Circleville's public schools have been adjusted to comply with the foundation program, Charles H. May, president of the Board of Education, announced Wednesday. As a result, salaries will be increased an average of 10 per cent.

This increase is not on a blanket basis, Mr. May explained, but varies according to the records of the teachers, their background of normal school and college training, and their years of service. Some slight modifications may be made in the schedules.

During recent weeks the board has held a number of meetings to work out the salary qualifications required to comply with the program. Contracts issued to teachers for the 1936-37 term are under the new salary schedules.

Increases Date Back
These increases, under foundation program regulations, become effective retroactive to last Jan. 1, and are figured on the basis of eleven-eighths for the period from Jan. 1 to June 1.

Under the new pay schedule the low salary in the school system is $500 and the highest $1,500. Last year the minimum was $700. Mr. May estimated the increase in the payroll for the year will be approximately $6,000. The payroll in the schools the last few years has averaged about $56,000.

49 Teachers Included

Under the foundation program boards of education are required to spend 75 per cent of their budget for operation expenses for employment of teachers. In the local system 49 teachers will receive increases. Salaries of the superintendent and principal are not included in the program regulations. Teachers' salaries, due Wednesday, will not be paid for a week or ten days, Mr. May said, due to de-

Senate May Defeat Tax

WASHINGTON, June 3.—(UP)—The senate squared off today for its long awaited showdown on the New Deal's proposed high tax on undivided corporate profits. Rejection of the proposal was considered almost certain.

The speed with which the chamber disposed of minor finance committee amendments to the $229,000,000 revenue measure was reduced slightly by an argument over an import tax on whale oil. But

Sen. Royal S. Copeland, D., N. Y., denied any intention of a filibuster and said he would complete his remarks quickly today. He sought to exempt inedible whale oil from the tax.

The senate leadership indicated strongly that hopes were still held for agreement on the tax bill and congressional adjournment by Saturday.

Such a procedure was believed to mean passage of the senate compromise tax bill by tonight and surrender by the administration of most if not all of its demands for higher levies on undivided profits when the bill goes to conference with the house.

The attitude of the White House was still the factor which would decide the question.

Group Divided

Opinion among the senate Democratic leaders was by no means unanimous. One group, including Sen. Alben Barkley, D., Ky., indicated doubt as to ability to adjourn by Saturday. This would mean a prolonged fight by the administration for a modified version of the house tax bill carrying rates up to 42 1/2 per cent on undivided profits.

If such a struggle should develop in conference with the house, adjournment would be delayed indefinitely and congress would plan to recess for three-day periods during the Republican national convention.

Republicans and a bloc of Democrats in the senate have said they would not give in to restoration of the high house bill rates on corporations. The senate compromise provides a 3 per cent increase in present corporate taxes and a 7 per cent super tax on undivided profits.

Some senators believed the administration might be able to get the 7 per cent tax boosted to 10 per cent in conference but that it was doubtful whether the senate would accept even that change.

When the chamber swings into the question of corporate and increased surtaxes on incomes this afternoon, it will be with the intention of completing action on the bill even if a night session is necessary.

Conclude Tonight
"We intend to conclude by tonight," Sen. William H. King, D., Utah, in charge of the bill, said. "If necessary, there will be a night session. I certainly hope that congress will be able to adjourn Saturday and I think it will."

Judge Feud Victim

Lane, of Mississippi (above), was critically injured in a feud last year. He was shot near the Smith-Courthouse. Authorities are seeking Frank Bruce, wealthy 60-year-old cotton planter, whose two sons were slain in a feud last year.

Ashville Has New Official In Postoffice

Stanley Smith Takes Over Village Reins from Henry J. Snyder

Ashville has a new postmaster, Stanley Smith, recently appointed, taking over the duties of the office this week from Henry J. Snyder, who has returned to farming.

Mr. Smith's commission was dated May 13 although he wasn't sworn in until this week. He was appointed by Postmaster General James A. Farley after approval by the U. S. senate. The appointee was endorsed by the Pickaway-co Democratic executive committee and Mell G. Underwood, who sent Smith's name to Farley as one of his last acts as congressman before becoming federal judge.

Seven others sought the office, Miss Nelle Oesterle and Errol L. Decker, who finished high in the civil service test, Edward C. Hefey, Mrs. George Hardbarger, Grover C. Cline, Clayton B. Baum, and William Essick.

The new postmaster has been a lifelong resident of Ashville, and active in Democratic circles for a number of years. He has served consistently as precinct committeeman from the west precinct.

Mr. Snyder served five years, being appointed by former President Hoover. Mrs. Clara R. Creager continues as assistant to Mr. Smith, having had six years' experience in the office. The Ashville office serves two rural routes.

NEGUS REACHES ENGLISH SHORE

Crowd Cheers Selassie as He and Party Arrive

SOUTHAMPTON, England, June 3.—(UP)—Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia arrived today on his way to London to seek aid against Italian annexation of his country.

Passengers on the ship and crowds ashore cheered the emperor as he debarked, wearing a flowing black cloak over a long white robe fastened at the neck.

Police took precautions to guard him and the customs shed was closed to the public until he had passed through. He left for London in a special coach attached to the boat train. The crown prince and his two daughters were in his retinue.

LANDON'S SUPPORTERS COLD TO TRIBUNE IDEA

TOPEKA, Kans., June 3.—(UP)—The suggestion of the New York Herald Tribune that the Republican convention next week name an anti New Deal Democrat as running mate to the presidential nominee was received coldly by supporters of Gov. Alf M. Landon here.

Landon had no comment but close followers who already considered him the nominee believed he would oppose such a move should it receive serious consideration.

10-INCH STORM SEWER ON PICKAWAY-ST COMPLETED

WPA workers completed installation of a 10-inch storm sewer on S. Pickaway-st. Wednesday afternoon, extending from the Rader coal yard to the intersection of Ohio-st. Cast iron pipe was used under the tracks of the Pennsylvania railroad.

The sewer, approximately 350 feet long, was installed to prevent storm water from entering the basement of the building owned by Charles Niles.

NEW DEAL FOE LOSES IN SOUTH

Tampa Judge, Supporting F. D. R., Nears Nomination

MIAMI, Fla., June 3.—(UP)—A supporter of the New Deal led a field of 14 for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination while President Roosevelt held an overwhelming lead against an obscure opponent in Florida's primary election, returns from all parts of the state showed today.

The president led his only opponent, Joseph A. Courtremarsh of Lebanon, N. H., 10 to 1 in the presidential preference vote which was considered unimportant as it is not binding and all candidates for delegates to the Democratic National convention were pledged to support President Roosevelt.

The 14-man race for governor seemed to be a contest between a New Dealer and a persistent critic of the national administration. W. Raleigh Petteway, Tampa judge, was leading B. F. Paty, West Palm Beach attorney and New Deal critic, by more than 2,000 votes.

COUNTY RECEIVES $3,987 IN NUISANCE TAX FUND

Pickaway-co will receive $3,987 from the state in the May distribution of nuisance tax proceeds. The money will be divided into two funds, $2,376 for local government and $1,611 for poor relief.

The distribution includes $2,092,744 to the 88 Ohio counties. Other central Ohio counties received: Ross $7,804, Fayette $3,452, Madison $2,600, Fairfield $7,423.

LEGIONNAIRES TO LEARN ABOUT BONUS PAYMENT

All members of the American Legion are urged to attend the regular meeting at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday. Fred Dauenhauer, post commander, announced regulations for bonus payments will be outlined.

PRESIDENT HITS SUPREME COURT WAGE DECISION

No Man's Land Barring State and Federal Function Created

LAW REFORM CLOSER

Rep. Fish Says Ruling Adds Million Votes to Democratic Party

WASHINGTON, June 3.—(UP)—Proposed constitutional reform moved closer today as a campaign issue as a result of President Roosevelt's caustic comment on recent Supreme Court decisions outlawing New Deal legislation.

The latest White House comment bore specifically on the ruling which held the New York state minimum wage law unconstitutional. It was described by the chief executive as creating a "No Man's Land in which neither federal or state governments can function."

Coming a year after the scrapping of the NRA, which he called a return to the horse and buggy days, the president's views were generally regarded as indicating a movement looking to specific methods to safeguard his administration's social and economic program.

Talking Point Provided
Whether the protective method would go as far as a platform pledge or whether it merely would be bound up in rhetoric was a matter of speculation. It was believed, however, that no matter what form it took it would constitute a strong talking point for Democratic campaign orators.

The president's press conference remarks regarding the New York decision came almost at the time

$2,000 SUIT SET FOR JURY TRIAL MONDAY, JUNE 8

First jury trial of the May term is scheduled in common pleas court Monday.

The suit is that of Pearl Holmes Mitchell, E. Mill-st., city, against John G. Barton, Commercial Point, asking $2,000 damages for personal injuries.

The plaintiff charges she was struck and injured by the defendant's auto on May 23, 1934 while walking along W. Mound-st near the ball park.

Mr. Barton, in his reply to the petition, says he was driving carefully and the plaintiff negligently stepped from a crowd in front of his car.

Notices were to be sent to jurors Wednesday afternoon or Thursday morning.

MISS MARCY EMPLOYED AT WASHINGTON SCHOOL

Miss Lois Marcy of near Mt. Sterling, a teacher in the New Vienna school, Clinton-co, for the last six years, was employed Tuesday evening by the Washington-twp Board of Education to succeed Miss Mary Rader. Miss Rader did not apply for re-employment.

Miss Marcy will teach home economics, English and typing. Typing is a new department in the school. Miss Marcy is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. M. Marcy.

The employment of Miss Marcy completed the teaching staff with the exception of the principal, Carl Bennett, superintendent at Washington during the last term, resigned to accept a position as superintendent at Walnut-twp. A. Wendell Boyer, principal, was named superintendent.

Members of the board decided to choose bus drivers for the next term by application and not by bids. They voted to purchase one new bus body.

The next meeting of the board will be June 15.

"I'm Not Crazy," Says Zioncheck

HIS tumultuous escapades temporarily ended by his confinement in the mental observation ward of Gallinger Municipal hospital in Washington, Congressman Marion A. Zioncheck, the playboy legislator, shouts, "I'm not crazy," as he rests up on his hospital bed. The trip to the hospital—for mental observation—came when Zioncheck was arrested on a lunacy warrant following a day of fantastic deeds which included a demand for the arrest of Vice President Garner, a hectic time in his high-powered automobile and two visits to the White House to request President Roosevelt to call out the army to find his wife. Zioncheck, however, did not see the president.

Death Ordered
Dean's charge, delivered in an unemotional voice, daily contradicted the contention of other defendants that Poole's death had not been ordered.

Slowly under the questioning of McCrea, Dean had picked up the events leading up to Poole's death. He testified that Poole was kidnapped and the "one-way" trip to Detroit's sparsely settled west side where the shooting took place as Poole started to protest his innocence.

"It was all arranged at our meeting at Findlater Temple that it would be a one way ride if not a hanging, then a shooting," Dean said.

"How far away from Poole were you standing when you started shooting," asked McCrea, pacing away from the witness stand.

"There," replied Dean when McCrea was eight feet away from him.

"I fired eight shots at Poole before he fell down," Dean added.

"Why did you fire so many?" "I was nervous."

Dean said that no one spoke during the shooting. Ervin Lee, another defendant, also fired at the victim, who slumped into a ditch by the roadside.

Five There Then
"Davis ordered us all back to our cars. There were five of us there then. There was Davis, myself, and Lee. Urban Lipps was in the car already. I don't know the others."

Under McCrea's questioning, Dean told how the two machines returned to town. Dean said he and Davis went to a German beer garden to drink.

Dean's action, which came as a distinct surprise, was taken over the strenuous objection of his attorney. Court attendants said it was the first time they could remember that a murder case defendant testified without permission of his counsel.

MRS. ZIONCHECK 'TO STICK WITH' SOLON - HUSBAND

WASHINGTON, June 3.—(UP)—Mrs. Marion Zioncheck, wife of the Seattle congressman confined to Gallinger hospital for mental observation, said today she would "stick with" her husband.

Zioncheck was reported resting "very nicely" in the psychopathic ward to which he was confined on police orders after he created a series of disturbances climaxed by an effort to have Vice President John N. Garner arrested.

The Seattle congressman ran "wild" over Washington Monday in search of his bride, whom he claimed was being detained by Garner and others. She visited him twice yesterday at the hospital.

"I'll stick by Marion," she said. Zioncheck said "there isn't anything wrong between me and my wife." Physicians said the congressman would be released after a few days rest.

TWO JOIN SURVEY
Delos Morris, Williamsport, and Mrs. Hazel Payne, W. Main-st., have been assigned by the National Reemployment office to positions on the federal school survey being conducted in this county. George McDowell, county superintendent of schools, is director of the project.

DEAN DECLARES POOLE'S DEATH WAS "DECREE"

Shooting Admitted By Man Who Goes to Witness Stand in Detroit

EIGHT SHOTS CONFESSED

Johnson, "Colonel" in Terror Band, Ordered Action, He Says

DETROIT, June 3.—(UP)—Death by hanging or gunfire was decreed for Charles A. Poole, 22, by "Colonel" Harvey Davis and other Black Legionnaires an hour before the assassinated WPA worker was kidnapped by the vigilantes, their "trigger man" testified today in Common Pleas court.

Dayton Dean, stocky, curly haired slayer of Poole, testifying voluntarily at the examination of 12 Legionnaires charged with the slaying, said that Poole's death—either by rope or gun—was to be the end of a "one way ride" for the man charged with beating his wife.

Dean's charge, delivered in an unemotional voice, daily contradicted the contention of other defendants that Poole's death had not been ordered.

Slowly under the questioning of McCrea, Dean had picked up the events leading up to Poole's death. He testified that Poole was kidnapped and the "one-way" trip to Detroit's sparsely settled west side where the shooting took place as Poole started to protest his innocence.

"It was all arranged at our meeting at Findlater Temple that it would be a one way ride if not a hanging, then a shooting," Dean said.

DIAMOND RINGS LEFT LYING AT WELL LOCATED

Two diamond rings, said to be valued about $300, have been restored to Hazel McCollister of near Williamsport by Sheriff W. I. Icenhower of Fayette-co.

Miss McCollister left the rings lying on the curb at the sulphur spring at the Deer creek bridge while she was washing her hands.

It was learned that a Washington C. H. car had been seen at the place after the rings were left. The rings were picked up by a Washington C. H. girl who readily surrendered them to Sheriff Icenhower when she learned the identity of the owner.

STATE LAWYERS MOVE TO ALTER SUIT EXPENSES

Civil Procedure Code Faces
Revision; Delays to Be Combated

COLUMBUS, June 3.—(UP)—A general overhauling of Ohio's legal system to eliminate long delays and reduce expenses in the trial of civil suits was begun today by the lawyers of Ohio.

The move came in the appointment of a committee to consider the revision of the Ohio code of civil procedure by Charles W. Racine, president of the Ohio State Bar Association.

The committee will begin work immediately to rebuild and modernize Ohio's laws on civil procedure along the lines comparable with more progressive states and with the systems now being worked out for federal courts by a committee appointed by the U.S. supreme court.

Marshall Chairman
E. J. Marshall, Toledo, chairman of the committee which drafted Ohio's present general corporation act, will serve as chairman of the committee named by Racine.

Other members of the committee are Gustavus Ohlinger, Toledo, vice-chairman; William B. Stewart, Cleveland; John Weld Peck, Cincinnati; Fred C. Reitor, Columbus; Paul C. Martin, Springfield; Henry Bannen, Portsmouth; Herman J. Nord, Cleveland; John D. Gardner, Steubenville and William P. Barnum, Youngstown.

Assisting the association's committee will be a special sub-committee of three law professors, Elias Harris, of Ohio State University, William Dawson, of Western Reserve university, and Fred Woodbridge, of the University of Cincinnati.

Local bar associations in the state have also been asked to cooperate in the work by appointing committees to assist the general committee in the formation of its recommendations.

First Since 1853
The present Ohio code of civil procedure was adopted in 1853, and the present movement is said to be the first real step taken to accomplish its revision and to make it meet modern conditions and requirements, according to Racine.

It is expected that two or three years will be required for the survey and studies.

Tales

GEORGE GRUBB, Circleville's transfer man, owns a dog that is very devoted. One day George was walking near the old canal with the canine when they came on a band of gypsies. Let George tell the story:

"One of the gypsies was attracted immediately by the dog. He made a great fuss over it, and after a while offered to trade me a pony for the pet. I was reluctant at first, but I decided that I might as well trade because the first time the dog got loose he would probably come back home anyway.

"I traded, and before I left the camp, which was beside the railroad track, the gypsy tied the dog to a tie.

"The next morning when I awakened I went downstairs, looked out the back window and there was that dog with the tie still fastened to the rope."

17-YEAR CICADA, LOCUSTS TO YOU, BACK IN COUNTY

The 17-year cicada, or locusts, are returning to Pickaway-co.

From various sections of the community came reports over the weekend that the strange insects were emerging from the ground and tuning up on their songs.

The first report came from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Wise, Stoutsville-pk. They reported their chicken yard was honeycombed with holes where the insects had left the ground. Few of these locusts reached trees, Mrs. Wise explained, as the chickens were on hand when the insects left the ground.

The insects, Mrs. Wise said, do their singing while the sun is shining but are quiet in the evenings and at night.

Masculine members of the tribe do the singing, according to T. H. Parks, extension entomologist of Ohio State university. They have one of the strangest life cycles of any insect.

They emerge from the ground the latter part of May or the early part of June in Ohio. They have passed the preceding 16 years as larvae in the soil where they attach themselves to the root of some plant and feed from juices sucked from the root. The insects crawl from the soil, climb the stem of a plant a short distance, moult their skins, and change into an adult insect.

The cicadas present a strange appearance at the moment of moulting. They are white and have red eyes, but they rapidly change in color to the normal black, and the four nearly transparent wings are unfolded ready for flight. An old myth that the appearance of the cicadas presaged war was caused by someone noticing that the letter W can be seen on the outer end of the front wing.

Although the cicadas are noisy and appear in alarming numbers, they do very little damage to growing plants. The injuries are almost entirely confined to young shade and fruit trees. The female cicada deposits eggs in the smaller twigs of the trees, sometimes the twig is injured so badly that it dies or is broken off by winds after a

TAFT TO ALLOW OHIO DELEGATES TO NAME CHOICE

CINCINNATI, June 3.—(UP)—

Robert A. Taft, of Cincinnati, Ohio's Republican favorite son candidate for president, will NOT dictate to his pledged delegates when they "should switch their votes from him and support another candidate, he said today.

The delegates will have to follow their own dictates, Taft said. "I have always taken the position," he said, "that I should not dictate to the delegates. It will be up to them to decide for themselves when they think their first choice no longer has a chance before the convention."

Taft was named favorite son and won 47 pledged delegates when state Republican leaders opposed the candidacy of Senator William E. Borah, who won the remaining five votes of the Ohio delegation.

In a recent poll taken in Ohio before the primary it was shown that Gov. Alf M. Landon was ahead of all others for top places on the ticket. Governor, Frank Knox also received much favor.

year or two. Valuable trees can be protected by covering them with cheesecloth which can be removed by the middle of July.

When the eggs hatch, the larvae drop to the ground and burrow into the soil. The adult cicadas in Ohio will be gone by the middle of July and no more will be seen of this particular brood for 17 years. Other broods of the cicadas appear regularly at 17-year intervals in other parts of the United States. In the South, the cicada completes its life cycle in 13 years.

MEN WHO LOOTED JOSEPH'S STORE SENT TO PRISON

Two men, implicated in the theft of 102 suits from the Joseph Clothing Co. on Sept. 8, 1934, received 25-year sentences to federal prisons last week in Cincinnati, Bryan Custer, deputy U. S. marshal, reported Wednesday.

The men were Isidore Sallee, a junk dealer, and Lindsay Justice, hotel proprietor, both of Ironton. Custer reported Sallee confessed the theft and implicated Justice and several other men.

A lock on the front door of the store was pried off with a crowbar and the stolen suits were trucked to Kentucky. After all identification marks had been removed the clothing was sold in Cincinnati.

The men were sentenced for conspiracy in a U. S. mail robbery about two years ago in Ironton. A rural mail carrier was robbed of a payroll he was delivering to an Ironton cement company. Sallee was sentenced to Atlanta and Justice to Leavenworth, Kas.

SUN PREVENTS OPENINGS OF ROUTE 22 SECTION

Old Sol was mixed up in a de-tour problem Wednesday afternoon.

T. D. Van Camp & Sons, contractors, have completed resurfacing Route 22 west of the river bridge but the torrid heat has prevented lifting the detour.

Heat prevents the resurfacing material from "setting" properly. The department hopes to open the road either Wednesday evening or Thursday morning.

THOUSANDS PAYING $1 TO VIEW QUEEN MARY

NEW YORK, June 3.—(UP)—

The spacious decks of the H. M. S. Queen Mary were opened to the public today. Thousands of visitors crowded the dock and streets near the ship, waiting in long lines to pay $1 for their first view of the ship's interior.

For many blocks the streets assumed a circus day appearance. Hawkers peddled wooden models, pictures and folders describing the ship.

FRANCE FACES TROUBLE

PARIS, June 3.—(UP)—

"Folded arms" strikes for higher wages, shorter hours and collective bargaining spread through France today, causing fears of a general strike which would paralyze the country on the eve of the assumption of power by the Socialist government of Leon Blum.

PRESIDENT HITS SUPREME COURT WAGE DECISION

that Rep. Hamilton Fish, R., N. Y., a conservative, was speaking on the minimum wage decision and its political ramifications.

Fish asserted the ruling won "a million votes for the Democratic party." He told the house he would back a plank in the National Republican platform calling for a constitutional amendment on the minimum wage question.

The remarks of the president came as a distinct surprise to observers who were generally of the opinion that he had spoken his piece on the court after the NRA decisions and henceforth would be content to let the decisions speak for themselves. When he opened up in response to a question there was a hushed silence.

Mr. Roosevelt referred to the seeming discrepancy between the court's opinion invalidating the Guffey coal control act and that outlawing the New York law to prescribe minimum wages for women are children.

Guffey Act Recalled

In the Guffey act decision the court ruled the federal government had no power to regulate wages and hours in bituminous mines because these were a part of local relationship between employer and employee.

If neither the federal government nor the states have power in this field, then there is seems. Mr. Roosevelt said, to be an area where state and federal governments are equally powerless to act to solve broad economic problems.

BORAH ANGERED BY FLETCHER INVITATION TO HOOVER

PROTEST HEARD AS CONVENTION DATE IS NEARER

Vandenberg of Michigan Wins Favor as Running Mate if Kanan is Named

CLEVELAND, June 3.—(UP)—A lively movement toward campaign year coalition of Republicans and conservative Democrats today stirred pre-convention interest in this city where the GOI national convention will convene June 9.

Gov. Alf M. Landon's boom is echoing loudest on the presidential front. The flags are out. Hotel lobbies are filling and elevator service is beginning to lag under pressure of convention crowds in a hurry to get from where they are to somewhere else.

Party dispute is threatened over Chairman Henry P. Fletcher's invitation to former President Hoover to address the convention. Protesters are expected from Sen. William E. Borah's managers. There is surprising evidence of a minority movement to nominate a constitutional Democrat for vice-president on the Republican ticket.

In Landon's Bag

Hotel lobby reports that "it is in the bag for Landon on the first ballot" were followed quickly by stories that a deal was on to snare Michigan's votes for the Kansan by offering the vice-presidential spot to Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg of that state. There has been no echo of applause in the Landon camp, for the suggestion of J. Henry Roraback of Connecticut that the Republican ticket be Landon and Rep. James W. Wadsworth of New York. John D. M. Hamilton, Landon campaign manager, welcomed Roraback's tender of Connecticut's votes for Landon but would not comment on the vice-presidential nomination.

Fletcher and the convention committee on arrangements decided to invite Mr. Hoover to speak here. He probably will appear on June 10, one week from today. Replying to questions with a show of annoyance, Fletcher explained that the arrangements committee of which he also is chairman had authority to invite speakers and that it was not a matter for the convention itself to pass on. He compared the selection of such a speaker to provision of bands, singers and other "time killing" entertainment which must be provided for delegates while they wait for the report of their platform committee. Nominating speeches ordinarily do not begin until the platform has been adopted.

To Join Factions

The Hoover invitation conforms with strategy of Landon's managers to conciliate as many party factions as possible. Hamilton urged last week that the former president be invited to speak. Hoover has been considered by many observers to be opposed to Landon's candidacy.

There was evidence of unrest at Borah's headquarters. Some committee members took the position that if Mr. Hoover were invited to speak all Republican candidates be given the platform privilege — this despite Mr. Hoover's recent announcement that he was not a candidate for the nomination. If Fletcher and the arrangement committee decide against inviting any but Hoover to address the convention, the Borah managers can appeal to the national committee which will meet today.

Defective Eyes Found to Be Cause Of Nearly Every Automobile Crash

Drunken, Careless and Reckless Driving Responsible for Only One Per Cent of Motor Accidents, According to Oculist Who Made Tests

Dr. Edwin H. Silver

"The driver who takes to the highway without proper vision and a fast nervous system is risking suicide and murder."

WASHINGTON — Man's own limitations have betrayed him on the highways, according to a new theory of accident-prevention advanced by Washington scientists of the National Research Council. Not drunken driving, not careless driving, not reckless driving—but sheer physical defects are responsible for 99 per cent of our automobile accidents, which last year caused the appalling total of 36,400 deaths.

The opinion, advanced by Dr. Edwin H. Silver, famous Washington eye surgeon, may revolutionize tests for motor vehicle licenses within the next few years. After examining thousands of drivers, Dr. Silver discovered that between 17 and 19 per cent have vision so impaired that they become menaces to human life on the open road. Luckily, Dr. Silver says, all but one per cent of those with defective vision—vision so bad that they cannot see to drive safely—can have their eyes corrected.

Nerve Reaction

Next to bad eyesight, the principal group of dangerous drivers, he discovered, are those with "retarded nerves." There are many persons, he found, whose nervous reflexes are so slow that they should be prohibited from driving. Eventually, he foresees nervous reaction tests for every driver. Those who fail to react swiftly to emergencies will be denied permits to drive.

"In the past 20 years," he points out, "the speed of automobiles has increased from between 20 and 30 miles an hour to between 75 and 100 miles an hour."

"But our bodies have remained the same. It still takes as long for a nerve impulse to travel from the eye to the brain, and for the brain to order our legs to put on the brakes, and for the order to be transmitted down the nervous system from the brain to the legs."

"It is just a case of machinery outstripping the human element. Man has outdone himself."

"Automobile speed has increased three-fold. Brain speed has increased not at all. The man whose reflexes are faster than normal has very little chance of steering into another car. The man whose reflexes are slow—he courts death."

Testing Nerves

Already, Dr. Silver points out, simple tests have been evolved in many parts of the country to test nerve speed. Such a test now is being recommended as compulsory for drivers in the nation's capital.

In one test the would-be driver is placed in what is a counterpart of a driver's seat. The instant a red light flashes before him, he is told to apply the brakes. An electrical device, timed to the one thousandth part of a second measures his reaction time.

It was ten years ago that Dr. Silver started on the series of experiments to discover the causes of accidents.

One day he saw a terrible accident. A child ran in front of a truck. The truck never slowed down. The child was crushed to death beneath the big wheels.

Dr. Silver was interested. There wasn't any reason, so far as he could see, that the driver didn't have time to stop. So, being inquisitive, he followed the driver to the police station, and there asked permission to examine the man's eyes.

The police were puzzled, but they assented. A swift examination disclosed that the truck driver had what Dr. Silver has since named "tunnel eyes."

Straight Ahead Only

If you have tunnel eyes, you don't see things approaching from the side, although you may be able to see perfectly straight ahead. The average man he eyes comparable to a "wide angle" lens on a camera. He should be able to see at least as far as 475 degrees to either side, while looking straight ahead.

Persons with perfect vision can see 210 degrees to either side. And these people rarely have accidents.

"Tunnel eyes," Dr. Silver says, cause more automobile accidents than all the drunk drivers who ever took to the road. Yet in most cities there is no test to determine whether or not a driver has this dangerous defect in his sight.

There are other persons, his research disclosed, who have blind spots in their eyes. This is seldom dangerous unless each eye has a blind spot on the same side. You can have such a blind spot—and never know it—until some car smashes into your machine and you realize too late that you never saw it coming.

It is far more dangerous to drive with, subnormal eyesight than to drive a car without lights at night, in Dr. Silver's opinion. "He thinks he is getting a clear picture of matter of fact, he isn't seeing what is going on," he says.

"Present day speeds call for split-second decisions on the part of the driver, not only occasionally, but many, times during the day. Unless the eye flashes a clear picture to the brain in time for the muscles to act, that split-second decision is not possible."

"The driver who takes to the highways without proper vision, and a fast nervous system, is risking suicide and murder."

The only way to halt this murder and suicide on the highways, in the opinion of the surgeon, is by universal, stringent tests for automobile drivers.

They should be able to pass physical examinations almost as severe as those given an aviation pilot, he said, and added: "For your car now travels as fast as many planes."

JASTER ASSAILS EXISTING ROADS

Highway Chief Says Ohio's System Behind Times

COLUMBUS, June 4.—(UP)—State Highway Director John Jaster, Jr., regards Ohio's highway system as extensively developed but "slightly behind the times."

The highway director pointed out today that while Ohio was one of the first states to realize that development of roads was vital to commerce when the automobile was first developed, the highways have failed to keep pace with automotive developments.

"Many of the existing roads," he said, "date back some years to slow moving traffic. Their widths in some instances are 16-feet, which was a sufficient right-of-way when the automobile was limited to lower speeds."

"Now," he said, "the roads must be wide enough to carry 60-mile-an-hour traffic, wider and longer automobiles and heavier flows of traffic."

He pointed out that the majority of roads in Ohio which are classed as state routes are too narrow to safely handle the volume of traffic now flowing across them daily.

The highway director declared himself in favor of roads, 20 feet, and wider. In some instances major routes in the state are this wide, and wider, to carry four traffic lanes.

Revised standards set down by the U. S. bureau of standards for roads has also forced some of the Ohio roads into obsolescence, he said.

Here the matter of automobile speed enters into the question. When the department rebuilds an old road, the department has found that the narrow curves do not meet bureau standards. Federal regulations require a far wider vision on winding roads, necessitating the junking of nearly 75 per cent of the old road bed which cannot be used in laying the new route.

Library Notes

"The most distinguished contribution to American Literature for Children in 1935" has just been announced at the Convention of the American Library Association, which is being held in Richmond, Virginia, during the present week. The book selected as the most outstanding book for young people, published during the last year, is "Caddie Woodlawn," by Carol Ryrie Brink.

The book is the story of a lively little pioneer who lived on the Wisconsin frontier in Civil War days. Built out of the memories of the author's own grandmother, the real Caddie, this is a story not only of exceptional charm and lively plot, but of great historical interest because of its authentic background.

The author of Caddie Woodlawn has been writing short stories, poems and plays for a number of years, and she has written one other book for children. Mrs. Brink was born in Idaho and was brought up by the grandmother whose stories of her own pioneer childhood are woven into tale which has won the "Newberry" award.

This "prize" story was received at the Circleville Library in the early winter and is so well liked that it has been in constant circulation since its arrival.

Whatever became of the gaunt, gray wolf, so long a familiar figure at the door?

Badoglio Arrives in Rome for Royal Welcome

ROME, June 3.—(UP)—Marshal Pietro Badoglio, conqueror of Ethiopia, arrived from East Africa today and was met at the station by Premier Benito Mussolini. Thousands of spectators cheered wildly.

Badoglio, in the colonial uniform of a marshal, left the train with his wife and at once embraced Mussolini. Mussolini wore his favorite uniform—corporate Fascist militia. He patted Badoglio affectionately on the back, then handed Signora Badoglio a bouquet of roses.

With his wife, Badoglio motored from the station, followed by Mussolini in another car.

All cabinet ministers now in Rome and prominent senators, deputies and fascist chiefs were at the station. A detachment of lancers and Fascist militiamen formed a guard of honor.

ZIED EXECUTED IN JERSEY JAIL

Man Reprieved Night of Bruno Death Silent

TRENTON, N. J., June 3.—(UP)—A bored penitentiary clerk wrote the last chapter of the once terrible tri-state gang today—an order permitting an undertaker to remove the body of Charles Zied from the prison morgue.

Zied was executed last night in the same electric chair that killed Bruno Richard Hauptmann. He was originally scheduled to die the night Hauptmann died. His death ended the tri-state gang, for the state of Virginia previously had executed two of its leaders and Pennsylvania two more.

Zied was the last surviving member of the gang. He married William T. Feltz, a Communist, who died quietly, refusing the customary special dinner and seeing no one all day except Rabbi Abram Holberg. He saw his wife last a week ago.

Just before guards strapped a broad leather gag and blindfold over his face he shook hands with Rabbi Holberg and said: "Goodbye Doc, thanks a lot, Doc."

Robert Elliott, executioner, switched on the chair's current and Zied was pronounced dead four minutes later.

A WASTE OF MONEY

FOR many years, highway employees have repaired that part of Route 22 just west of the Scioto river bridge. They have poured thousands of dollars into an effort to make the highway suitable for the steady stream of cars traveling over it. But all the work, all the effort and all the money spent have done nothing to provide a permanent repair. The only solution for that condition that exists is construction of a new roadway, built so flood waters of the Scioto will not damage it. Plans have been approved several times, estimates have been made, and Pickaway county has received assurance time and again that the construction of a suitable road was a matter of only a short time. Nothing has come of it. State workers in Pickaway-co have done all they can, but the powers-that-be in Columbus and the highway division office in Delaware have not taken action as they have promised they would.

AGENCY OF LAWLESSNESS

THIS country has had all too frequent experiences with mob terrorism, ranging in variety from the "Know Nothing" riots of an earlier period of the nation's history, to the lynchings in the South, still a disgraceful blot upon our civilization, and the reign of the Ku Klux Klan, of recent unhappy memory. These movements bring to the surface the more repellent of our national characteristics and their recurrence is to be prevented at all costs, unless we are to assume in the eyes of a critical outside world the aspects of a primitive nation, still awaiting the dawn of enlightenment.

The activities in Michigan of an organization known as the "Black Legion," reputed to be an outgrowth of the old Klan, are disturbing. These marauders classify themselves as vigilantes. Several of their number are now charged with murder. The organization is suspected of having been responsible for other murders and wholesale outrages. Fifty residents of Michigan are reported to have been marked for death by the Black Legion.

The Michigan authorities have it within their power to scotch this movement at its very inception. If the Black Legion is an organization of blackguards, murderers and thugs, it should be treated as such by the agencies of law in Michigan. If this course is followed it will not long survive.

The only time people are willing to let you alone is when you need help.

LIBERALS DEMAND FIRM STAND

WASHINGTON—Some straight-from-the-shoulder talk was handed the President at his recent informal after-dinner conference with Senate liberals.

It was all in friendly spirit, interspersed with much jesting and laughter. But there was no pulling of punches in the serious moments.

Senator Bob LaFollette, Wisconsin, Progressive, spoke pointedly on the failure of the Treasury to follow up the President's recommendations for a tax on corporation surpluses with a carefully worked-out bill. Senator Henrik Shipstead, Minnesota Farmer-Laborite, told the President he would have to make up his mind which way he was going.

"You must decide, Mr. President," he said, "just what you want to do—play ball with business or crack down on business."

The Minnesotan also contended that the President would have to take a definite stand on the question of the Supreme Court. He argued that even if the Democratic Party did not make an issue of the Court in this year's campaign, people would be certain to ask the President how he proposed pushing new liberal measures as long as the way was barred by the tribunal.

Felix Frankfurter, who was present, agreed with this. The President was non-committal.

In a discussion of the Democratic platform, the President was advised to include a strong anti-monopoly plank.

"If you don't do that," he was also advised, "the Republicans will beat you to the punch. There is a strong under-current of popular resentment against monopoly and the Administration had better bestir itself and do something about it."

The President listened attentively, made no promises.

SENATORIAL SON-IN-LAW

Joe Davis, who married Marjorie Post Hutton, heiress of the Post Toasties millions, has a cooperative son-in-law.

Joe is the adviser to President Trujillo of Santo Domingo, and recently arranged for the suspension of interest payments to American holders of Dominican bonds. His fee in compensation for this was $480,000.

These bonds are guaranteed by Dominican customs receipts, and the collector of customs is an American appointed (through a treaty arrangement) by the President of the United States.

The other day, Senator Millard Tydings of Maryland, who recently married Joe Davis' daughter, rose in the Senate and proposed that the United States relinquish all financial control, such as exists in Santo Domingo, over Latin American governments.

NOTE—Davies has just left for Santo Domingo for further debt conferences with President Trujillo.

Three weeks have passed without a startling move by Hitler. Perhaps the chap is getting a little old.

Joan Spencer, a small town school teacher, recently disappointed in love, is engaged as secretary to Julian Sloane, noted writer. Joan likes her new position, but she is bored and, realizing the emptiness of life as she leads her luxurious summer home. Her new employer reproaches her, however, when she comes in late after an evening with Alex Garrity, a friend of Sloane's. One morning Joan returns from the store to find a beautiful woman embracing Julian in the library. (NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 3

JOAN'S TENNIS shoes made no sound as she wheeled away from the window and the scene it disclosed—the strange woman embracing Julian—but the sound of her own rapidly beating heart was deafening. She felt her ears burn and her eyes were hot with childish disappointment. Joan wasn't given to childishness and, realizing the keenness of the thing that prompted it, she gave way completely and ran towards the quiet of the woods.

"It was short and sweet," she tried to say and summon a smile, but she was too much at war with her own feelings to accomplish much that was philosophical. "You couldn't expect a girl—even the kind of level-headed girl that Joan was—to lose anything that meant as much as her job and laugh it off. For Joan had been happier than she had ever been, since she had come to live at The Willows. She had been given the job of her dreams, the change in her mode of living. She clung to it because being there had made it easier for her to adjust herself to losing Win. As for Julian Sloane—

Joan caught herself up remembering the scene. She hadn't waited to hear what he would say now that the woman—Joan paused for a moment to wonder who she was—had said that Julian needed a man for a secretary. But what could Julian say?

Whoever this woman was, she must be important to him. Joan remembered the way in which she leaned over him, her arms encircling his shoulders, her lovely face pressed to his head. No woman would do that unless she were important.

She shut out from her mind the picture of what she must go back to. Back to Blakelyville to the endless days and lonely nights in the little village and when the long summer was over to go back to the school room and the warm, dusty odor, the sing-song voices.

It hadn't been so bad, those other years but then she had had Win and the future to look forward to. Now it was unendurable. She wouldn't go back! She'd find another way, another job to do.

Resolutely she straightened her frock and went back to the house. It was still there and she had to go. She was nowhere to be seen. Joan dawdled on her way to her own rooms. With wistful affection she let her eyes linger on the cool shadows. She breathed the soft air that smelled sweetly of the summer sunshine and mingled with the tang of the sea breeze. It was Koko's baking day.

"May I have a ginger cake?" she asked Mrs. Henderson as though the bottom had not dropped out of this pleasant world.

That you may and a glass of lemonade. At thought you had to ask! the housekeeper reproved her. Joan gave her an appreciative smile. How kind all of them were to her. How easily they accepted her and made things so smooth a part of the continuity of this life she had been leading these few enchanted weeks.

She felt a brief pang of conscience, remembering all that her sister had done for her, trying to make her happy in the little cottage. But Dorothy had Jim and she didn't need Joan. For that matter, there was no one here who needed her but here—

She left off thinking any more of that. In her own bedroom she took her lingerie from its place and folded it away in the box she had brought from home. Carefully she assorted her papers, diaries and the things that she had accumulated since she had become a part of Julian Sloane's household. She flung open the dress-closet door but decided against picking them up.

Instead, she took down the sheer violet frock and laid it across her chair. Then she dusted the blue velvet sandals and placed them beside it. She glanced at the clock and saw that she had two hours before dinner.

She picked up a book and turned it over in her hand. For on solid hour she was determined to bury herself in her book, enjoy her ginger cake and the cool drink. After that she had plans.

Joan's plans weren't very clear beyond a certain point. But up to that point they meant looking her very best when she appeared for dinner. She hadn't the slightest idea whether or not the lady of the house would be there at just in case she might be, Joan wasn't going to let her get the idea that Julian's secretary was any little mouse.

She had contented herself for the most part with fluffing a powder puff over her face or dabbing on a bit of lipstick. A fresh linen frock was her usual "cleanup" costume. But this night she was going to show them. The first step was to get ready. She slipped on a kimono and slipped it off. She slipped it on again and slipped it off. ## Juniors Capable Hosts To Graduating Class

Students, Faculty and School Board Entertained

With the time of their graduation approaching, the members of the Senior class of the Circleville high school are having their leisure moments filled with social activities. One of the most anticipated affairs became a reality Tuesday evening when the members of the junior class entertained at Memorial hall with a banquet honoring the seniors.

The senior class colors, scarlet and silver, were carried out in the streamers festooned from the balcony to the center of the rostrum. Ferns and greenery were placed at advantageous places on the stage and a miniature rock garden with a pool of live fish and a rustic wishing well at either side of the dance floor added to the unique setting.

A latticed fence, attractive with sprays of spring blossoms, enclosed the dance floor. Outside the enclosure small tables centered with bud vases of sweet peas were conveniently placed for serving.

The place cards and programs were in scarlet with hand painted figures in silver and tiny tulip bouquets of vari-colored gum drops added a touch of color to the appointments.

A delicious four-course dinner was served by the ladies of the American Legion Auxiliary to the 152 juniors, seniors, school board, and members of the faculty. Twenty pupils of the freshman class assisted.

Following the dinner a welcome to the seniors was given by Don Henry, president of the junior class with the response by Hilaire Haacker, senior class president. Readings by Mary Elizabeth Groce and solos by Jessie Dresbach were then enjoyed. Dr. G. D. Phillips gave a toast to the graduates and Hilaire Haacker favored the group with several accordion numbers. A toast by Roy Bowen, remarks by E. E. Reger and the singing of the "Red and Black" completed the program.

Dancing to the music of Carl Huns' orchestra was enjoyed until midnight.

The success of the banquet was due in great part to the following committees who so ably assisted the ladies of the Auxiliary: decorating, Dorothy Carter, Ruby Chalfin, Mary Crites, Jessie Dresbach, Robert Funk, Millard Good, Willard Hosler, Richard Weldon and Gale Wolfe; orchestra, David Adkins, Rosemary Hammel and Dwight McColister; seating, Dorothy Avis, Faye Elliott and Montford Kirkwood; food and place committee, William Ammer, Jean Cryder, Jean Lucas, Rosemary Neuding and Eleanor Radcliff. Charlotte Cook, Patty Hosler, John Rankin and Benadine Yates comprised the program committee.

Logan Elm Grange

Twenty-seven members attended the regular meeting of the Logan Elm grange held at the Pickaway-twp school, Tuesday evening. The meeting was called for 8 o'clock and after a short business session, first degrees were conferred on a class of three candidates. A drill, led by Ray Beery, preceded the ceremony.

The second degree was conferred by the regular officers. Candidates

Glazed Chintz is Used For Summer Dancing

DARK PRINTS VERY POPULAR

Dance frock of glazed black chintz with red and white design and worn by Marla Shelton

By LISBETH

THE DARK PRINT with small design in bright color has to date been the most popular of the season's materials, for both the daytime and evening dresses. As the season advances the lighter shades and solid colors in pastels or white will gradually supersede the dark prints, but the prints just fill the bill on many and many an occasion all summer through.

They are the choice of many wedding guests, and are quite stunning worn with large picture hats in either white or dark straw. For this type of affair silk, is the usual choice, but there are many cottons or rayon mixtures that are chosen for less formal occasions.

Use Chintz Draperies

If you are in need of a frock for dancing, in fact, you may take down glazed chintz curtains and fashion them into a gown.

It's a fact that glazed chintz is the material used for this fascinating dress worn by pretty Marla Shelton, one of the newer beauties of the films. The material is dotted in white, the larger dots having a red design. The dress is widely flared for grace on the dance floor. The white pique collar has a deep V in the back, and scarlet patent leather bows fasten it and match the narrow patent belt.

There are many other cotton frocks of like styling to make summer nights gay. If you don't care so much for chintz, Scotch gingham makes a smart looking evening frock. One I saw was in tiny checks—and if you buy them ready made they are not so cheap, either.

Ginghams, by the way, are getting a style break this year. You can spend your day in gingham, if you like the idea. Your morning frock can well be of that homely sounding but good looking material, and then you can change to a more dressy model for afternoon, and dine and dance in the evening in such a dress as I have just mentioned.

Baird and Mrs. John Puffinbarger will be joint hostesses to the society and Mrs. Clark Smith and Mrs. John Haughn will have charge of the program.

C. A. C. Refund Dance

The Circleville Athletic club will hold its weekly dance in the gymnasium on Saturday evening, June 8.

These dances are conducted on the social plan and a refund cash prize drawing is scheduled for 11:30. The winner must be present to receive the prize, and if not claimed, it will be added to the next week's refund.

Dancing will begin at 9 o'clock.

Fallon-Mann Wedding

The marriage of Miss Edith Mann of Chillicothe, daughter of Mr. Homer Mann, Detroit, to Mr. Maurice Fallon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fallon, E. Fourth-st, Chillicothe, was quietly solemnized Saturday afternoon, May 30, by Rev. Fr. Annis in the parsonage of St. Anne's church at Covington, Ky.

Miss Arbresta Grubb and Mr.

been associated with the U. S. Shoe Corporation.

Mr. Fallon was graduated from St. Mary's high school and attended business college. He was appointed recently as manager of the Merit Shoe store, W. Main-st, this city.

*****

Euchre Club

The men and women's euchre club enjoyed a dinner meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Fitzpatrick, Elm-ave, Tuesday evening, preceding an evening of play.

Euchre was played at three tables with the prizes for high scores going to Mr. and Mrs. Russell Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Valentine, Washington-twp, have invited the club for their next meeting.

*****

Mrs. Kibler Hostess

Members of her two table bridge club assembled at the home of Mrs. Franklin Kibler, Watt-st, Tuesday, for an evening of play.

Mrs. Neal Barton and Mrs. Paul Helwagen were invited as additional guests.

The game of contract was enjoyed and when tallies were added prizes for high scores were awarded to Mrs. Ralph Wallace and Mrs. Robert Norpoth.

Mrs. E. W. Weiler will entertain the club in one week at her home at Pickaway and Watt-sts.

*****

Shower for Mrs. Bell

Mrs. Aaron Lumpe was hostess to members of the Berger hospital staff Tuesday evening at her home, N. Pickaway-st.

The party was a shower in honor of Mrs. Kenneth Bell, of Jackson-twp, a recent bride.

A theater party was enjoyed early in the evening, followed by the presentation of many beautiful gifts to the honor guest. Tables were appointed in green and yellow for a delicious salad course served at the close of the evening.

Guests were Miss Mary Butler, Miss Elizabeth Cady, Mrs. Charles Kirkpatrick, Miss Ethel Kirchofer, Miss Mary Crist, Miss Helen Steele and Miss Catherine Brennen.

*****

Seniors to be Guests

Tom A. Renick as chairman of the social and community welfare committee of B. P. O. Elks No. 77 called a meeting of his committee Tuesday evening and plans were completed to entertain all the graduates of Pickaway-co at a dance June 18 in Memorial hall.

Each graduate is permitted to bring his or her escort. Dancing will be from 9:30 to 1:30 o'clock to music furnished by George Bolter and his Society orchestra.

This popular ten-piece unit carries Shanny Cochran, formerly of Rudy Vallee's Yale Collegians, and features in the brass section Carl Agie, who was formerly with Ted Lewis, having left that organization less than two months ago. This orchestra has frequently appeared at Valley Dale.

The public is invited to the dance.

Other members of the committee are Bishop Given, Andrew Thomas, Gilbert Starkey, Paul D. Miller, and Joseph Adkins, Jr.

Child Conservation Meeting

The Child Conservation league enjoyed one of the most interesting meetings of the year Tuesday afternoon when it met for the first June meeting in the Library Trustees room at Memorial hall.

During the business session, final plans for the study hour to be conducted by the League during the summer were announced by Mrs. Bishop Given, chairman of the study hour committee. This is an undertaking which is bound to create wide-spread interest. Details will be made known later.

The program which followed was opened by Mrs. Melvin Yates who sang an appropriate group of children's songs. They included "The Piper" by Head, "Nursery Rhymes" by Curran and "The Night Wind" by Farley.

Mrs. Milton Kellstadt, the guest

Mrs. Chalfin Hostess

A pleasant evening was spent Tuesday, at the home of Mrs. C. G. Chalfin, E. Main-st, when she assembled members of her club for an evening of cards.

Guests were regular members and Mrs. W. E. Wallace an additional guest.

Auction bridge was played at three tables. Prizes for top scores were merited by Mrs. Elizabeth West, Miss Nellie Riffle and Miss Ann English. Mrs. John Carle was lucky winner of the traveling prize and Mrs. Wallace was presented a guest prize.

At the close of the play a tempting dessert course was served by the hostess.

Miss English will entertain the club in two weeks.

G. O. P. Meeting Preview
And Farley to Broadcast*Both Comes on Thursday Evening; Child Choir to Be Heard in Morning; Penner is Back October 4

Thursday evening's radio programs, in addition to the usual features of Crosby, Heidt etc., will provide two political broadcasts. One will be about the Republicans and the other will feature what the Democrats have done.

A pre-convention program will be presented by the Republican party over CBS at 7:30 o'clock.

Persons having parts in the airing have not been announced. It will originate in Cleveland, scene of the convention.

An hour later, Postmaster General James A. Farley will speak from Springfield over the NBC lines. He will address the Massachusetts State Democratic committee meeting.

A splendid choir concert will come from the CBS airwaves at 8:45 a. m. Thursday when the Greenfield village program, coming from the Ford village in Dearborn, Mich. is heard. Early American songs will be featured by 156 school children.

Edgar A. Guest, conductor of the "Welcome Valley" hour, launched his new series of tributes to cities in his broadcast Tuesday evening, starring Detroit, his home town. He presented "The Girl Friends" as his Detroit guest stars.

Joe Penner and his duck will be back on the air for a while October 4 with Bob Crosby and his orchestra. It will be carried over CBS. Harry Conn, writer for a long while for Jack Benny, will scribble Penner's continuity. Penner has had his good day and his bad, but it seems his return to the air on a regular schedule will be approved and appreciated.

CITIES SERVICE OUTFIT DEFEATS PICKAWAY DAIRY

Steady Attack on Three of Foe's Twirlers Net 16 to 4 Victory

Cities Service Oils took vengeance on the Pickaway Dairies Tuesday evening in winning their first softball game of the year. The score was 16 to 4.

The Oil outfit, strong, but beaten in both its starts, made the butter-boys suffer for those defeats by pounding the offerings of three pitchers, Blair, Maloney and Eby, to all corners of the lot. The outcome was not in doubt from the first inning on.

Buskirk was on the mound for the winners and coasted to victory. Eby and Judy Gordon hit home runs.

Tonight finds the Given Oils and Eshelman Feeds tangling for supremacy.

FIVE FASTEST RUNNERS IN SPECIAL AAU MATCH

CHICAGO, June 3.—(UP)—The five fastest sprinters in the United States have accepted invitations to compete in a special race at the annual Central A. A. U. track and field championships Sunday.

They are Jesse Owens, Ralph Metcalfe, Eulace Peacock, Bobby Grieve and Ben Johnson, all candidates for the Olympic team.

Cornelius Johnson, Dave Albritton, Ed Burke and John Cruter, leading high jumpers, will compete in another special event.

She's a He Now

IT WAS Mary Edith Louise Weston, champion girl athlete of England. Now, however, it's Mr. Mark Weston, a man. Two surgical operations, performed at Charing Cross hospital, London, on the advice of a specialist, changed her sex. As Mary Weston, Mark won the women's national shotput championship in 1924 and retained it for six years. He is shown above as she at an athletic contest several years ago.

About This And That In Many Sports

Business Men Travel?

Jack Landrum and his crew of boys, plus Elmer Reger and Roy Bowen who will become boys for about 10 days, will set sail from Cincinnati next Monday for Hessel, Mich. and other points—Hessel is in the extreme northern point of the upper peninsula—But that isn't all—Some business men, somewhat less than a dozen at the present time, are trying to persuade the popular coach to take them to Michigan for another vacation trip later in the summer —If there is enough interest it is highly possible the trip may be made.

Frisch May Be Sorry

Bill Hallahan might do a lot of good for the Cincinnati Red ball club—The crooked-arm has a lot of stuff in that elbow of his and may make Frankie Frisch awfully sorry he let him get away—Columbus did well in the deal obtaining Tony Freitas, but what the Cards got no one knows—Now Mike Ryba has been let go by the Cardinals and may trek Columbusward—That would make the Red Bird outfit a contender after all, maybe.

Hank's Brother Benched

Joe Greenberg, young brother of Hank, star first baseman of the world champion Detroit Tigers, has struck a snag in his first attempt at professional baseball—Greenberg was sent to Charleston of the Mid-Atlantic league this spring, but was benched recently —A shortstop, it was said his weak defensive play prevented him from making the grade as an infielder, the position at which he starred at New York University—However, he was kept on the Charleston roster and will be tried in the outfield.

Manager-Undertaker

"Chuck" Sotak, manager of Jimmy Vaughn, Cleveland lightweight boxer who recently scored a surprise victory over Freddie Miller, former world's featherweight champion, is an undertaker.

Byrd Beat Jones

Sammy Byrd, outfielder for the Cincinnati Reds and recognized as the best golfer among major league ball players, has had framed a dollar bill he won on the links from Bobby Jones—Byrd won the bill from the former amateur king during an exhibition charity match several seasons ago at the East Lake course at Atlanta.

Another Ohioan

An Ohio boy, Bob Osgood of Lakewood, will captain the 1937 University of Michigan track meet. Osgood won the 120 yard high hurdles in the recent Big Ten meet at Columbus in 14.2 seconds to tie the world's record of Percy Beard.

McLARNIN AND CORBETT TO ATTEMPT COMEBACKS

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3.—(UP)—Negotiations for a double-comeback attempt of Jimmy McLarnin and Young Corbett, both former world champions in the welterweight division, were started today by Tony Palazolo, San Francisco matchmaker.

Palazolo said he would like to pair the two fighters in a bout this summer.

Corbett, living in Fresno, was understood to have agreed to the plan. He was knocked out by the hard-hitting Vancouver Irishman at Los Angeles, when the title was at stake.

McLarnin's manager, Pop Foster, indicated he would sanction the bout if there was an adequate guarantee. So far, however, he has set no figure.

YESTERDAY'S HERO: Ival Goodman, right fielder of the Cincinnati Reds, whose lusty homer in the ninth gave the Reds the decision over Philadelphia.

A movie star's desire for privacy seems strange to nobody except those who wish they could attract attention.

Cornell Brings Home the Bacon

FOR the first time in nineteen years the Cornell squad returned to Ithaca with the I.C.A.A. trophy. The track team journeyed to Philadelphia with a confidence which was entirely justified when, after the smoke of battle had cleared away, 29½ points had been piled up. In the picture, Capt. Robert Linders of Cornell, is shown with the trophies of the victory.

SHORES, COOPER STAR IN LEAGUE TILTS TUESDAY

BY UNITED PRESS
 Bill Shores, Kansas City Blues pitcher, ran and pitched his club back into the leadership of the American association last night in a last inning 1 to 0 victory over the St. Paul Saints.

A tie for top place was prevented by Minneapolis when the Millers beat the leading Milwaukee Brewers by a score of 5 to 2, the win came with a three run rally in the eighth inning. Milwaukee went a game behind Kansas City.

Shores held the Saints to four hits and his teammates allowed no runs off those. In the ninth inning, he rapped a single. Her-ring passed Marshall, Blues shortstop, and George Stumpf, center-fielder. Marchand, right fielder for the Blues, hit the first ball pitched to him and brought in Shores.

The Milwaukee team led Minneapolis until the eighth, when Hatter, who went in for Hamlin, let down and allowed three runs. Another was added the next inning. Laabs, long lamming left fielder for Milwaukee, hit his 15th home run.

Morton Cooper of the Columbus Red Birds fanned 17 men—less than the Association record—to blank the Louisville Colonels. Columbus took the game 13 to 0.

GROUNDHOGS PROTECTED BY SPORTSMEN'S RULING

Under a recent ruling of the Conservation council groundhogs are protected in Ohio from March 1 to August 1, both dates inclusive. It is lawful for a person to take and possess groundhogs only from midnight August 1 to midnight, Feb. 28.

Farmers may kill groundhogs when they are doing actual damage to property on any day except Sunday.

FIVE HOLD EDGE IN OPEN MATCH

National Open to Start
 Thursday in Springfield

SPRINGFIELD, N. J., June 3.

—(UP)—Golfdom's greatest shot makers took their final practice swings today for the 40th National Open championship, commencing tomorrow over the wooded hillsides of the Baltusrol golf club.

Around the old English club house, on the hilly fairways lined with tall spruce and fir trees, and in lounges and locked room, all the talk was about who will succeed Sam Parks, Jr., of Pittsburgh as champion in the gruelling 3-day, 72-hole test. Everyone has conceded that Parks will be dethroned before the first shot is fired, but that seems to be the only certain thing about this tournament.

There is much disagreement among the players, critics and just plain golf enthusiasts as to the winner, and the winning score. Out of the field of 170 players—134 professionals and 36 amateurs—five of the outstanding favorites are Henry Picard, Hershey, Pa., Johnny Revolta, Evanston, Ill., Paul Runyan, White Plains, N. Y., Gene Sarazen, Brookline, Conn., and Harry Cooper, Chicago.

Picard is the betting favorite at 8-1. Revolta and Runyan have the style of play to beat the course. Sarazen is the most feared of the group. Cooper, always a challenger, seems to be hot.

Paul recorded his fifth win yesterday, 5 to 4, against the Brooklyn Dodgers. After holding the Stengel men to six scattered hits for eight innings, he had to be rescued by Walker, who in turn was relieved by Heusser, who throttled a ninth inning Brooklyn rally after three runs had been scored. The victory enabled the Cards to increase their National league leadership to three games over the New York Giants, whose scheduled contest with the Chicago Cubs was rained out.

Remember When?

Heber Masonic lodge, No. 501, was organized.

This lodge, in Williamsport, was organized on Jan. 2, 1875 and operated under dispensation until Oct. 2, that year, when a charter was granted by the grand lodge.

Capt. W. B. Davis, veteran of the Civil War, was the first master of the lodge. One of the largest events in the history of the lodge was the celebration of its 40th anniversary on Dec. 21, 1915.

Juror Excused for Cause

AT THE CLIFTONA

"The Moon's Our Home," Walter Wanger's latest production for Paramount, opens at the Cliftona theatre with that capable screen actress, Margaret Sullivan, in the star role.

Directed by William A. Selzer from a Faith Baldwin story, "The Moon's Our Home" deals with two international celebrities who have learned to hate each other merely on the strength of their reputations.

As a fiery-tempered, pampered, though beautiful screen star, Miss Sullivan refers to a noted world explorer-author over whom millions of women have gone mad, as the "kind of person who would be lost without his hot water bottle." Henry Fonda, as the globe trotter, refers to the screen star as a "phony blonde with a face that resembles French pastry."

THOUSAND TO ATTEND SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION

ANNUAL SESSION TO ATTRACT BIG THROU JUNE 7

Three Speakers to Aid Program; Dramatists to Perform During Evening

One thousand delegates from all parts of Pickaway-co are expected to gather in Circleville next Sunday afternoon and evening to attend the sixty-ninth annual convention of the Council of Religious Education and the fourth annual Youth Conference and banquet.

The Methodist Episcopal church will be the scene of the convention. Several outstanding speakers will take part, including Dr. Donald H. Tippet, of Bexley M. E. church, Rev. Lester Norris and Mrs. R. M. Sandy of Columbus. A number of others, including a group of dramatists who will appear in the evening, will have part.

Neuding is President

Officers of the Council of Religious Education are: president, E. S. Neuding; vice president, A. A. White; secretary, G. P. Hunsicker, Williamsport; treasurer, George F. Grand-Girard; superintendent of children's division, Mrs. E. S. Shane; superintendent of young people's division, Mrs. B. W. Young; superintendent of adult division, O. E. Drum, East Ringgold; superintendent of leadership training department, H. W. Plum, and superintendent of administrative committee, E. A. Brown.

Members of the executive committee are Mr. Grand-Girard, Mr. Brown, Mr. Plum, Mr. Neuding, Mr. Hunsicker, Sherman Downs, W. A. Jones, Rev. L. S. Metzler, H. J. Bowers, Rev. ## Mainly About People

ONE MINUTE PULPIT

A word fitly spoken is like apples of gold in pictures of silver.—Proverbs 25:11.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Burke of Washington C. H. announce the birth of a son Wednesday morning in St. Anne's hospital, Columbus. Mrs. Burke was formerly Alicia Rooney, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Rooney, E. Union-st. The baby is the first boy born in the Burke family in 30 years.

Gerald Shoemaker, 31, of Lancaster, was discharged from Berger hospital Tuesday afternoon. He was treated after an accident.

IOWA LAUNCHES DICKINSON BOOM

Two to One Victory in Primary Adds Strength

DES MOINES, Ia., June 3.—(UP)—Iowa's Republicans boomed white-haired U. S. Sen. L. J. Dickinson as presidential timber today on the basis of his 2-to-1 victory in Monday's primary.

Returns from 1,925 of the state's 2,442 precincts gave Dickinson 87,216 votes, against 44,761 for his nearest rival, the veteran and once-popular former Sen. Smith W. Brookhart.

"Listed as number one foe of the New Deal, Dickinson's victory gives morale to the whole Republican party," said Robert Colfash, Iowa delegate to the national nominating convention. "Iowa's ringing endorsement of its senior senator will commend him to the attention of the convention."

Democrats, who made Dickinson the center of their attacks on opponents of New Deal agricultural policies, pointed to their overwhelming victory in the 1932 general election as contrasted with the Republican's superior showing in the primaries that year.

Dickinson's opponent in the general election will be Gov. Clyde L. Herring, who led the Democratic landslide in 1932 up-setting Iowa political traditions.

Dickinson easily defeated Rep. Hubert Utterback, his closest competitor in the primary. For governor, Republicans nominated George Wilson over J. M. Grimes, and Democrats chose Nelson Kraschel against Richard F. Mitchell.

FRIGHTEN SPARROWS

NEW YORK, June 3.—(UP)—Rockefeller Center's 10th story

"farm offered a popular new attraction to urban sightseers today—a scarecrow, the city version of a scarecrow. Sparrows ate so many seeds from the skyscraper corn and oat patches that the scarecrow became a necessity. It differs from a rural scarecrow in that it weaves a tuxedo and has a white handkerchief in its breast pocket. A. M. Van Den Moek, the center's horticulturist, said it was too early today to say whether it frightened any sparrows.
